I sense Vulcan will do the sampling itself-- now that I understand that it has a choice to do it that way. A bit of mis-communication all around. I will get back to all asap-- hopefully tomorrow.

Everything is on the internet these days. Here is a link that will take you to a summary of the insurance that Hill carries. Apologies for the delay on the letter; we are still working on it but you should see it tomorrow at the latest. Please let me know if you have any questions at this time.

It can be accessed at this link: <http://www.marsh.com/moi?client=1385>.
